TOBACCO TRUST CASE IS HEARD

History of the Combination and Its Course in Court—Quite Interesting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 7.—Arguments were made again this week before the United States supreme court in the "Tobacco trust" case.

The suit under the Sherman anti-trust law to dissolve the so-called "Tobacco trust" was instituted in 1907 in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York. The proceedings were brought by the Department of Justice against more than sixty corporations and a number of individual defendants headed by James B. Duke.

Long Time Organizing.
The process of organization of the combination alleged to be unlawful spread over many years. It began in January, 1890. Then the first American Tobacco Company was incorporated for the purpose, it is alleged, of taking over the business of five independent cigarette plants.

In 1898, the Continental Tobacco Company was incorporated for the alleged purpose of taking over the plug tobacco business of the American Tobacco Company and the business of five other plug tobacco concerns. In 1900 the American Snuff Company was incorporated for the alleged purpose of taking over the snuff business of the American Tobacco Company and of two or three independent snuff manufacturers.

Cigar Company in It.
In 1901, the American Cigar Company was incorporated for the alleged purpose of taking over the cigar business of the American Tobacco Company and an independent manufacturer of cigars.

In the same year, the Consolidated Tobacco Company was incorporated for the alleged purpose of taking over as a holding company in exchange for its bonds substantially all of the stock of the American Tobacco Company and the Continental Tobacco Company.

In 1903, the American Stogie Company was incorporated for the alleged purpose of taking over the stogie business of the American Cigar Company, the American Tobacco Company and the Continental Tobacco Company.

In 1904, the American Tobacco Company, the Continental Tobacco Company, and the Consolidated Tobacco Company were merged into the present American Tobacco Company.

Enters Into Contract.
It is alleged that in addition to this organization, the American companies in 1902 entered into a contract with a British company, the Imperial Tobacco Company, whereby the American companies were limited in their business to America and the British to Great Britain, except that the latter could buy leaf tobacco in the United States. It was alleged that the British-American Tobacco Company was organized to take over the export business of both the British and the American companies.

Greatest Producers.
Testimony was presented to prove that the defendants produced 70 per cent of the smoking tobacco made in this country; 73 per cent of the cigarettes; 81 per cent of the plug and twist tobacco; 81 per cent of the fine-cut tobacco; 89 per cent of the little cigars; 96 per cent of the snuff; 95 per cent of the licorice paste; 75 per cent of the tin foil and most of the tobacco extracts, boxes and containers.

Three of the four judges on the circuit bench united in a decree. This decree dismissed the petition as to the Imperial Company and the British-American Company, and the United Cigar Stores Company, which was claimed to be the retail branch of the organization. This action formed one of the grounds for appeal by the government to the supreme court.

Unlawful Combination.
The decree adjudged the other defendants to be parties to an unlawful combination, but said nothing about the monopolizing charges. This failure furnished another ground for appeal by the government. The American Tobacco Company, the American Snuff Company, the American Cigar Company, P. Lorillard Company, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Blackwell's Durham Tobacco Company and the Conley Foli Company were adjudged to hold shares in a number of specified corporations and enjoined them from acquiring the plants or business or voting the shares of and from exercising control over these subsidiary companies. The government was dissatisfied because the holding companies were not enjoined from collecting dividends from the subsidiary companies.

The defendants appealed to the supreme court because the petition of the government was not dismissed in toto.
